

SwingShift Nurses Notes

Strong support for women's charity

Thank you to those members of the SwingShift family who made donations in support of our involvement in Share the Dignity and the Australian charity's 'It's In The Bag' promotion. The campaign provided handbags filled with sanitary products as Christmas gifts for Australia's most vulnerable women including those experiencing homelessness, those at-risk of and experiencing domestic violence, remote indigenous women, young girls in foster care and drought-stricken farming women. The December

Training modules online

SwingShift Nurses is launching access to mandatory and electronic medical recording system (EMR) training modules on our website. Soon you will be able to log in to the website and access the training modules from anywhere. Most health networks require nurses to complete mandatory online training modules prior to their first shift. Additionally, EMR is being implemented across Australia and is designed to help organisations provide safer, more effective and an overall higher standard of care. An EMR system is the equivalent of paper records or charts in the hospital setting. Nurses need to be familiar with a hospital's EMR system and need access in order to log-in to the database, sign-off on notes, administer medications, etc.

2019 promotion achieved a spectacular result with Share the Dignity receiving more than 134.000 donations.

Be sun smart this summer

Australia experiences some of the highest levels of ultraviolet (UV) radiation in the world and in the depths of another sweltering summer SwingShift Nurses is reminding you to make sure you are being sun smart. Don't forget to 'Slip, Slop, Slap, Seek and Slide' when you're outside. Launched in 1981, the original 'Slip, Slop, Slap' slogan represents one of the most successful health campaigns in Australia's history.

New Facebook social group

SwingShift Nurses would like to thank everyone who attended our annual Christmas party. We had a fantastic turnout and it was a great night. The success of that event has encouraged us to be more social in 2020. As a first step we have established a new private SwingShift members group on Facebook. This group will be a central communication portal for our social activities throughout the year. Please join the group via the SwingShift Nurses Facebook page.

Featuring a cheerful seagull in board shorts, t-shirt and hat along with a catchy jingle, the campaign encouraged us to slip on a shirt, slop on sunscreen and slap on a hat as protection from skin cancer. Over the years that message has been expanded with the addition of 'Seek'shade and 'Slide' on a pair of sunglasses. For more information on protecting your self from the sun this summer check out the SunSmartwebsite.

Tis' the season

The end of the year brings no greater joy than the opportunity to express to you season's greetings and good wishes for the year ahead. From the entire team at SwingShift Nurses, may your new year be filled with happiness.
